

Pahokee chamber reorganizing for '84

PAHOKEE - The Pahokee Chamber of Commerce is reorganizing for 1984 and the new president, who's directing the revamping, said he hopes to see the chamber make a contribution to the community by the end of the year.

"Nineteen eighty-four is going to be a year of action for the chamber of commerce," said newly installed President James Bennett. "I wanna see some controlled growth in this area."

In his first week, Bennett appointed several committee chairmen and set the groundwork for what he said should be the chamber's future growth and participation in improving the city.

Annual dinner is Friday night

PAHOKEE - The Pahokee Chamber of Commerce annual dinner will be Friday, January 27 at 7:30 p.m. in Pahokee's Lake Club.

The dinner will feature a speaker and the presentation of the chamber's annual awards. Those awards include the citizen of the year and distinguished awards.

Tickets for the event are $19 each and will include a prime rib dinner.

Julia Johnson was appointed chairman of the membership committee.

The committee is supposed to start work immediately on building membership, but Bennett said the chamber should also look at another membership drive in September.

He said that may give those who decide not to join or retain their membership a chance to join again after seeing the progress of the chamber in the first few months of the year.

R.D. Santerfeit was appointed chairman of the Industrial Development Committee, a body Bennett said was created in an effort to attract new industry and business to the city.

"As far as new industry is concerned, we're losing it, not gaining it," said Bennett.

He charged Santerfeit with developing a program to attract new business and industry to the

Lifesaver honored

By BRENDA BUNTING

BELLE GLADE - This week, a little over a year after rescuing two people from a canal, Sylvester Knowles was given a lifesaving medal by the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Office.

According to Major Frank Fogdemon of the PBCSO, the medal is "the fourth highest award the department gives."

Knowles, 23, saved the lives of Prontha Hudson and Joyce Scott of Belle Glade when their vehicle was struck December 10, 1982 while traveling east on SR 80.

The Scott vehicle was struck on the right side by a dump truck, forcing it into a drainage canal, according to the official reports.

Knowles said he was going home when he saw the accident occur and he jumped out to help.

He said the man who struck the Scott vehicle said he couldn't swim and hollered for help.

Knowles pulled the little girl out and he and another guy got the lady out. "I didn't know it at the time, but the lady was carrying a baby," Knowles said.

Knowles was living in South Bay at the time of the accident, but has since moved to Belle Glade.

Cutting it real short

SOUTH BAY - South Bay City Manager Lomax Harrelle requested a short meeting Tuesday night, January 17, and he got it.

After the pledge to the flag, Mayor Donald Tanner had City Clerk Virginia Walker take the roll call, then Tanner dispensed with Three die in accidents on state road 717 Saturday

BELLE GLADE - Two traffic accidents in less than a day on state road 717 have left three people dead.

Charges have been filed against drivers in each of the incidents.

According to a release signed by Belle Glade Police Detective Jack R. Fulenwider, Patrick Miner, 27 and Roy Patrick Miner, Jr., 5, both of 1716 Northeast Avenue 1 in Belle Glade, were killed when the van they were passengers in struck a guardrail on state road 717 and plunged into the Hillsboro Canal at about 1:30 a.m. January 14.

Michael Schriber, 22, of 1108 West Canal Street South number 13 in Belle Glade was charged with two counts of vehicular manslaughter by an intoxicated motorist, according to the release. He was supposedly driving the van east when the accident occurred.

Schriber and another passenger in the van, Tonya Miner, 8, apparently escaped and were observed walking east on 717 by Officer Shane Cioffi. Tonya Miner was treated at Glades General Hospital and released and Schriber was admitted to Glades General in Belle Glade for observation.

The bodies of Patrick Miner and Roy Patrick Miner, Jr. were recovered in the van after it was pulled from the canal.

Another individual lost his life later that same day when he was apparently struck by a motorist near the spot of the previous accident. According to police reports, Pablo Rodriguez, 27 of Wellington was driving east on state road 717 when he allegedly struck a 56-year-old pedestrian at about 7 p.m. January 14.

Rodriguez was charged with vehicular homicide for the death of the unidentified pedestrian.

The victim was thrown from the road into the Hillsboro Canal, according to the report.

The three fatalities are Belle Glade's first for 1984.

At Tri-City League

Koehler discusses toll roads

A toll road may not be the best way to improve state road 80, but the chairman of the Palm Beach County Expressway Authority said the idea should be examined in the absence of other funding means.

Dennis Koehler, who discussed the goals of the authority with the Tri-City League Monday night, January 17, added that he isn't convinced yet that an expressway is needed and he urged Glades municipal officials to continue seeking other means of funding the necessary improvements.

"I am not so committed to building the expressway that I'm gonna build it no matter what," said Koehler.

He said the expressway authority will probably have feasibility studies made on the project. If those studies indicated the cost-benefit ratio makes the project feasible, the authority might then decide to construct the expressway.

Koehler acknowledged that two of the three corridors the authority discussed as potential toll roads would directly affect the Glades: state road 80 and U.S. 27.

He said he had heard protests, especially from South Bay Mayor Donald Tanner, that a toll road on U.S. 27 would be detrimental Glades economy.

Koehler suggested that South Bay's city commission go on record opposing an expressway on U.S. 27 because the authority is seeking input from the various groups that would be affected by a toll road.

He added that one other factor may stand in the way of a toll road's construction on U.S. 27.

Laws prohibit the construction of a toll road along a route where no alternate, free-access road exists.

U.S. 27 would present that type of situation, but state road 80 wouldn't present that difficulty because the stretch the authority is considering, eastward from Forest Hill Boulevard at Wellington to downtown West Palm Beach, would run parallel to other SOUTH BAY - Anyone who wants to run for a South Bay City Commission seat will have two weeks between Tuesday January 31 and February 14 to qualify.

According to City Clerk Virginia Walker, two seats may be contested in the March 13 election.

Those seats are held by commissioners Renick Morris and Willie Marshall.

This will be the first South Bay municipal election governed by the new county-wide common election date and all tabulating and voting will be handled by Palm Beach County's supervisor of elections, according to Walker.

While potential candidates have until February 14 to register, unregistered city residents who want to vote in the election have until Saturday, February 11.

Candidates must file the names of their poll watchers with the city clerk by 5 p.m. Friday, March 2 or with Jackie Winchester, the county supervisor of elections, by noon Saturday, March 3.

According to Walker, residents seeking to have their names placed on the ballot must complete the following steps:

- Open a campaign depository checking account prior to qualification.
- Appoint a campaign treasurer prior to qualification.
- File a loyalty oath and oath of candidacy at the time of qualification.
- File an application to have their name placed on the ballot at the time of qualification.
- Present a completed financial disclosure form at the time of qualification.
- Pay the filing fee on a check from a campaign account at the time of qualification.
- File a campaign treasurer's report of contributions and expenditures.

Engineers working on cube

By JEFF BROWN
BELLE GLADE --
Engineers employed
by the Sugar Cane
Growers Cooperative
of Florida are busy trying to find a way to build the world's largest sugar cube, a

Black Gold Jubilee
Steering Committee member told the rest of the committee last week.

John Pitts said
building a large cube may be difficult. He said the engineers are working on the idea of building a plywood cube, coating it with an adhesive and sugar, and filling the box with bagged sugar.

Committee members
asked if that would be recognized by the
Guinness Book of World
Records as a sugar
cube and Pitts replied
he didn't think so.

Chairman Ernie Mc-
Croan said the current edition of the book doesn't list a world's largest sugar cube, but Secretary Jill Wright was asked to call the book's publishers in England to find out if one is still listed by the organization. Not all the records the Guinness organization keeps records of are listed in the annual editions of the book.

McCroan suggested that if no record is listed by the organization, almost any size
cube could be built.
McCroan said it could be smaller.

Pitts suggested that an eight foot cube
would be the best size
if no other record exists
because anything smaller would lose its effect.

Regular feature starts this week

The Herald-Observer this week starts a regular feature in cooperation with local law enforcement agencies.

The Hot List, a list of stolen items taken in recent burglaries and thefts, will be compiled by officers with the Glades sub-station of the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Department, the Belle Glade Police Department, the Pahokee Police Department and the South Bay Police Department.

It is designed to help local law enforcement officers solve thefts and to give the public a better idea of how to protect themselves from theft.

According to Steve Haller, a detective with the Sheriff's department, many items that turn up missing can't be identified by the owner if they are recovered.

"The only way for this column to make money for the public is for them to identify their items," said Haller. "Take the serial number off of it or mark that item. Jewelry? Take a picture of it. If you can't identify it, I have a hard time giving your item back to you."

Ray Burghoff of the South Bay Police Department recommended individuals not only take photographs of unusual items but also photos of the interiors of their homes.

"Homeowners can say 'The jewelry box was right here,' but that doesn't mean anything. Take a picture of it and you can see it was right there. You have proof it existed," said Burghoff.

Paperwork on all valuable items should be kept also, but Haller cautioned that not all sales slips contain the serial number of an item. Many only carry the model number of a particular item.

John R. Carney, a detective with the Belle Glade Police Department and Haller also said local consumers should be wary of bargains.

Anyone who purchases stolen goods could be charged with dealing in stolen property, they said.

Caution before entering a deal that seems "too good" could "save a lot of embarrassment," said Carney.

Those having any information on the items listed on the Hot List are asked to contact the local police or Crimestoppers at 689-TIPS (8477). Crimestoppers can be called collect.

Police have asked that any callers also use the identification number that will accompany each item on the list. That number will be preceded by a B, P, S or C.

Hot list

The following items are reported missing by local law enforcement agencies. Anyone having information concerning these items may call their local police department or Crimestoppers at 689-TIPS.

S1: Sharp tape recorder, model number RD 660AVI, serial number 20640066.

S2: Sharp tape recorder, model number RD 660AVI, serial number 10727602.

S3: Panasonic tape recorder, model number RQ309DS, serial number EPG 57748.

Mincey was charged with aggravated battery with a gun.

He told officers she engaged in a dispute with Berry over money at the time of the shooting.

Berry, who was shot in the left chest area with a .38 calibre five-shot handgun, was treated at Everglades

Memorial Hospital in Pahokee and transferred to Stuart.

Concerned citizens to meet

We still don't like expressway idea for 80

Dennis Koehler, the Palm Beach County Commissioner who is serving as chairman of the Palm Beach Expressway Authority, has come to the Glades and, in his words, asked local municipal officials to "think about" the role of the authority and the possibility of funding improvements to state road 80 via a toll road.

The more we think, the more we don't like the idea.

Several factors cause our negative attitude toward using tolls to fund the much needed improvements on state road 80.

We agree with the argument that the road is the state's responsibility and should be improved at its expense, not the users. If that were the only argument, we wouldn't hesitate to endorse a toll road as the best possible alternative in the absence of other funding.

But there are other arguments. First off, we feel a toll on the stretch of state road 80 that has been discussed, eastward from Forest Hill Boulevard in Wellington to downtown West Palm Beach or Interstate 95, would put the burden of funding the construction of the eastern county stretch on western Palm Beach County residents (in essence, Glades people).

That isn't necessary, especially because we think there is a possibility the state can be more easily persuaded to improve that eastern stretch after it improves the western Palm Beach County stretch of state road 80.

If the state follows through on its plans to start four-laning the road from the Glades office building this summer and if the road can then be improved from U.S. 98 to Loxahatchee, the most dangerous section of the road will have been improved.

That section is the most difficult to have gotten funding for because of the small population, or number of votes, in the Glades.

We think if the road can be improved to Loxahatchee or Wellington, the multitude of wealthy voters in the eastern section of the county who will have to use the unimproved roads will be more than able to obtain commitments to improve the final length.

We are just a little concerned with the possibility that the authority's existence could give the state an opportunity to back out of the commitment to four-lane the western Palm Beach County stretch of the road.

We hope that is a concern with no basis.

We think the best approach Glades officials could follow would be to continue the pressure on state and federal officials to improve state 80 and U.S. 27.

Once we get the Glades sections of those roads completed and improved, the sections in the more populous and affluent parts of the state and county will take care of themselves.

It may make great sense to eastern county residents to have the Glades drivers pay for improvements to eastern county roads, but it makes no sense at all to us.

New chamber chief seems prepared

The Pahokee Chamber of Commerce board of directors named a new president and we're impressed.

It must be an accident because this guy seems organized and quite capable of getting something done.

In his first week, James Bennett has rescued the annual dinner from postponement and has it on schedule.

He's appointed several committee chairmen with the warning that if they don't do their jobs, they'll be "politely" removed and replaced with someone who will do the job and he's already brought up the annual Freedom Festival, suggesting the chamber start working on plans for the July 4 celebration.

Normally, the chamber wouldn't start planning the festival until late May.

With some early planning, this year's festival may be a success.

Bennett has also scheduled a membership drive (and appointed a chairman for the drive) and suggested the chamber have another membership drive in September.

His logic is that an autumn drive will give those who decide in the spring not to join or re-join a chance to see the chamber's progress.

If Bennett sticks to his promise of replacing those who don't give results and if he lives up to the potential we see, he could be just the shot in the arm the chamber needs.

What really impresses us, though, is Bennett's ability to organize and identify the problems that must be solved.

We suggest that members of the city council attend a few of his meetings just to see how he runs them.

Then, when they get that down, they might be able to learn a few things from Bennett about tackling and solving problems.

Is there ANYBODY out there?

If so, are you angry, happy, sad or just indifferent? We want to hear from you. Tell us what you think of the town you're living in and the people who run it. Tell us what you think of us. A letter to the editor can get your views across to others who may or may not feel the same way.

We encourage letters to the editor. Guidelines include:

- No libelous content.
- No poetry.
- All letters should be signed.

A new gas shortage in the Glades?

Editor;

I guess the gas crunch is on again! Only this time for cooking and heating.

Tuesday, January 10, my wife called to let TropiGas know we needed gas. She was told the order was written up and they would get to us as soon as possible.

Wednesday, January 11, my wife called back. She was told one of their trucks broke down.

Friday, January 13, I saw one of their trucks

one block from my house.

Tuesday, January 17, I called the Better Business Bureau.

After seven nights of eating out or sandwiches, I'm a little upset to say the least.

I thought only a controlled monopoly could get by with this kind of service.

How not to listen to a speaker

Ailsa Dewing

"And What Not"

Public speaking is a horrifying experience for a lot of people. It can also be quite an ordeal for the speaker. Speakers, however, can arrive prepared. And some do. Audiences only arrive. And that's where they make their mistake.

Volumes have been written for the enlightenment of public speakers while audiences have been left to their own protective devices, such as coughing, throat-clearing, and shuffling. None are effective, obviously — the public speakers continue to proliferate, sharing their worst fears, their bright hopes, their dire warnings, and the slides they took last year at the school for factory-trained mechanics.

In a moment we'll bring aid and succor to the silent majority for whom not even the government printing office, which has unlimited advice on methods for eradicating and stamping out all sorts of things, has issued a brochure. First, however, there is one speaking situation that should be exempt from any abuse: those who address civic club luncheons. It must be unenvying to know today's fine turnout is just that. Either show up or be fined. An equally grand round of applause might be expected from convicted prisoners after a speech on "What the Police Benevolent Association Means to Me," or high school seniors upon hearing the list of "shall nots" for the class picnic.

The aim of every public speaker is to get the message across. There's no reason why audiences shouldn't be allowed the same objective and still remain on their best, or at least second, best, behavior. To date, the audience's biggest problem has been lack of togetherness. A Greek chorus or a bevy of cheerleaders can elicit a coordinated response but, the truth is, they're hired by the management. What's needed is a do-it-yourself audience.

In group assaults, whether it's conquering the Alamo or the Nebraska Cornhuskers, victory is won by studying the opponent's maneuvers with a view to blocking him at the pass. A well-trained audience can take its cues from the speakers' handbook.

For example, arriving at the podium, speakers should be cautioned at length about staring at the ceiling or the floor while their speech is in progress. They are advised to let their eyes roam around the audience, seeking eye contact with anyone willing to play eyesies.

There are no instructions for the speaker whose audience is busily watching the ceiling. If there's anything more contagious in a crowd than reading watches it's looking to see what someone else seems to be looking at. This maneuver begins with someone leaning back in the seat, staring upward for a moment and then following the flight of an imagined whistled overhead as it dips and wheels and comes to rest on a far wall. The ringleader should continue to gaze at it for awhile and relax. Then with renewed interest, follow it back across the room to a point which appears to be over the speaker's head. Murmurs of "What is it?" will fill the air, but should be ignored or sloughed off with a whispered, "Nothing. Nothing at all," which no one will believe, of course. But any sane speaker should be routed by a roomful of eyes zeroed in on something above his head which he or she can't see.

Staff changes here

Boiler Plate

Jim Jones

There are a number of staff changes that will be occurring here at The Clewiston News, The Herald-Observer, and the Glades County Democrat over the next few weeks.

First, we will be saying goodbye to Jeff Brown, next week after almost 2 1/2 years with the Herald-Observer.

Since coming here from Shippensburg State in Pennsylvania, Jeff has gone through a lot of seasoning.

Now he is moving on to a Texas daily, located just south of Houston. Jeff is one of the most talented young reporters I've seen come down the pike. We don't agree on too many things — the military, Ronald Reagan, baseball, football, you name it — but that doesn't change the fact that his talent is considerable.

Especially in the areas of in-depth reporting, government reporting, and probably even in investigative reporting.

He also has a way with satire. Some of it is publishable in family newspapers.

Anyway, I look for him to be nothing less than the star of his new newspaper. I'll be disappointed if he stops there.

None of us are indispensable, however, and life marches on. Replacing Jeff will be Tom Kiskien. Tom has been a member of our staff since August and has proven his mettle as the primary workhorse in Moore Haven. You Belle Glade/Pahokee/Canal Point/South Bay folks are in for a treat.

All of which may not sit too well with the folks in Moore Haven, who hate to see Tom go. But we have something to make that sour potion go down a little easier. More about that later.

Tom is an exceptionally dedicated and productive young man. That's all I'll say for now. I'll let Tom's actions speak. They are louder than his words.

That brings us back to Moore Haven. Jeff Bader has just joined our staff with stellar credentials and recommendations. He will be filling the void left by Tom's transfer.

We expect him to maintain the same high standard set by Tom during his stay. And competition being what it is, who knows, he may even set a new standard.

Stay tuned during 1984. We look for even better things from our staff. They are a lean and hungry bunch. That's the way we like them.

The only thing bad about all this is that both Jeff and Tom are 6-2 or taller and I feel like a midget around them. I like to have them sitting down when I talk to them. That way we can see eye to eye on most things.

Appropriate words here might be simply "good luck" — for the two Jeffs and a Tom. We see things ahead all right.

Dr. David T. Evans

Everglades
Presbyterian
Church

"Seeing is believing," the old saying goes, yet we know this is not really true. We can tell when we're not believed. The result is frustration.

Jesus of Nazareth has worked miracles, preached wisely and out-debated the religious leaders of Galilee and Jerusalem. The people were interested curious.

"...the Jews gathered around and said to him, 'How long will you keep us in suspense? If you are the Christ, tell us plainly.' Jesus answered them, 'I told you and you do not believe.' John 10:24-25.

Why don't people believe? What does it take to make believers? Isn't seeing and hearing enough? This is evidently not the case. Jesus gives us some clues about the requirements for belief.

First, belief doesn't come as a result of seeing and hearing alone. Those that hear and see and believe must be chosen of Christ to get the message.

Christ calls believers "my sheep." These are those who have heard and are moved to believe. They are the new Israel. They see and bear witness to Christ.

The Holy Spirit has come upon them and their eyes are opened and they believe. When Christ confronts us with a decision we must be receptive to God's Spirit. The spiritual part of us must be convinced as well as the intellectual.

Second, believers are those who have heard Christ's message and follow Him in faith. Christ's word demands action.

Christianity demands a response. Jesus says, "My sheep hear my voice and follow me." This belief grows with an active faith. Contemplation of the message is not enough.

Christians who do not hear the word of Christ preached or do not participate in His fellowship do not exercise their faith.

To love Christ means we accept His love for us and we are in turn to love others. Receptivity to Christ means we accept Him and ourselves without reservation.

Thus, as we accept Christ we are given eternal life. We will operate on the concept that there is more to life than our earthly existence.

Eternal life means that we accept the saving love of Christ the Shepherd. Sin is no longer upmost in our lives, but God has delivered us from our helplessness.

All of this brings us back to the place of the church and the individuals in it. The church is the instrument of the Holy Spirit to help people realize what Christ is doing and to enable them to know Him.

The sheep of the world are powerless without Christ. In reality church members are without power away from Christ. He moves through the church which is His agent of redemption and reconciliation.

There is no hope save in the reconciling and liberating love of God. We have been given this responsibility to save those who haven't heard the Good News of God's love in Christ.

Let us get on about our Father's business. Let us show the love of Christ in our lives, that others might know Christ the Shepherd who will lead them and others to eternal life!

Military news

Army National Guard Pvt. Lester D. Canty, son of Willie L. Canty of South Bay, Fla., has completed one station unit training (OSUT) at the U.S. Army Infantry School in Fort Benning, Ga.

OSUT is a 12-week period which combines basic combat training and advanced individual training. The training included weapons qualifications, squad tactics, patrolling, landmine warfare, field communications and combat operations. Completion of this course qualifies the soldier as a light weapons infantryman and as an indirect-fire crewman.

Soldiers were taught to perform any of the duties in a rifle or mortar squad.

He is a 1983 graduate of Community High School, Miami.

Dr. David T. Evans

Everglades
Presbyterian
Church

"Seeing is believing," the old saying goes, yet we know this is not really true. We can tell when we're not believing. The result is frustration.

Jesus of Nazareth has worked miracles, preached wisely and out-debated the religious leaders of Galilee and Jerusalem. The people were interested curious.

"...the Jews gathered around and said to him, 'How long will you keep us in suspense? If you are the Christ, tell us plainly.' Jesus answered them, 'I told you and you do not believe.' John 10:24-25.

Why don't people believe? What does it take to make believers? Isn't seeing and hearing enough? This is evidently not the case. Jesus gives us some clues about the requirements for belief.

First, belief doesn't come as a result of seeing and hearing alone. Those that hear and see and believe must be chosen of Christ to get the message.

Christ calls believers "my sheep." These are those who have heard and are moved to believe. They are the new Israel. They see and bear witness to Christ.

The Holy Spirit has come upon them and their eyes are opened and they believe. When Christ confronts us with a decision we must be receptive to God's Spirit. The spiritual part of us must be convinced as well as the intellectual.

Second, believers are those who have heard Christ's message and follow Him in faith. Christ's word demands action.

Christianity demands a response. Jesus says, "My sheep hear my voice and follow me." This belief grows with an active faith. Contemplation of the message is not enough.

Christians who do not hear the word of Christ preached or do not participate in His fellowship do not exercise their faith.

To love Christ means we accept His love for us and we are in turn to love others. Receptivity to Christ means we accept Him and ourselves without reservation.

Thus, as we accept Christ we are given eternal life. We will operate on the concept that there is more to life than our earthly existence.

Eternal life means that we accept the saving love of Christ the Shepherd. Sin is no longer upmost in our lives, but God has delivered us from our helplessness.

All of this brings us back to the place of the church and the individuals in it. The church is the instrument of the Holy Spirit to help people realize what Christ is doing and to enable them to know Him.

The sheep of the world are powerless without Christ. In reality church members are without power away from Christ. He moves through the church which is His agent of redemption and reconciliation.

There is no hope save in the reconciling and liberating love of God: We have been given this responsibility to save those who haven't heard the Good News of God's love in Christ.

Let us get on about our Father's business. Let us show the love of Christ in our lives, that others might know Christ the Shepherd who will lead them and others to eternal life!

Military news

Army National Guard Pvt. Lester D. Canty, son of Willie D. Canty of South Bay, Fla., has completed one station unit training (OSUT) at the U.S. Army Infantry School in Fort Benning, Ga.

OSUT is a 12-week period which combines basic combat training and advanced individual training.

The training included weapons qualifications, squad tactics, patrolling, landmine warfare, field communications and combat operations. Completion of this course qualifies the soldier as a light-weapons infantryman and as an indirect-fire crewman.

Soldiers were taught to perform any of the duties in a rifle or mortar squad.

He is a 1983 graduate of Community High School, Miami.

Meeting

"There being no quorum and nothing on the agenda, we will adjourn this meeting until next month," said Tanner at 8:04 p.m. the meeting began shortly after 8 p.m.

Tanner and Commissioner Renick Morris were the only elected officials who showed up for the meeting. Vice Mayor Vernita Cox and commissioners Willie Marshall and Refugio Garcia didn't attend.

Director J. Ray Hatton II said the city is lacking in several areas the state recognizes as necessary for attracting new industry and business, so Bennett told Senterfelt to find out what areas Pahokee needs help in and to bring his report to the chamber's next board of directors meeting Monday, January 23.

"We have to start doing something," said Bennett. "If we lose one business a month that employs 10 people, by the end of the year we'll have lost 120 people. That's 120 people who pay taxes and produce revenue for the area. We can't stand this."

Bennett also announced plans to appoint a Ways and Means Committee as part of his effort to gain financial independence from the city, which has been supplementing the chamber's budget.

That independence will enable the chamber to take a stand on various issues in the future, according to Bennett.

Bennett also announced plans to start a chamber newsletter for members and he asked the directors to think about plans for the July 4 Freedom Festival if it decides to sponsor one.

In other business, the chamber appointed four members to the board of directors: John Pinder, Dale Milite, Diane Hall and Ted Gallo.

Expressway authority

He said one proposal the authority has discussed would relocate state road 80 south of the West Palm Beach Canal just before it crosses state road seven.

That would open up the present state road 80 route as a free-access alternate.

Another advantage of that proposal is that the authority would be able to purchase the necessary land at a lower cost than the commercially developed land adjacent to the current road, according to Koehler.

Koehler said using a toll road to fund improvements on state road 80 wouldn't be as untold to Glades residents as a toll road on U.S. 27, but he admitted that the argument against a toll road on state road 80 or U.S. 27 was strong. "Why should the folks in the Glades have to pay for a toll road to get that road four-laned when in fact the (Department of Transportation) has already four-laned it from the Broward County line South? That's a pretty rational argument," said Koehler.

Belle Glade Mayor Thomas L. Altman agreed with Koehler's argument that a toll road was better than no funding for improvements at all. "A toll road is a fair way to build a road absent traditional funding and I think we have lived with 'absent' for two generations," said Altman.

"You say a toll road on U.S. 27 would only hit Glades residents so that would be unfair. But on 27, you'd catch a lot of Yankees traveling on it. A toll road on state road 80 and you'd catch the Glades people that traveled to the coast," commented Pahokee Councilman Ronnie Graydon.

South Bay City Commissioner Rennick Morris asked why the area couldn't get funding from traditional avenues for improving the roads leading in and out of the Glades. "The first thing you have to do is triple the population in the Glades," said Tanner. "The coast has the votes and not the Glades. And that's what they (elected officials at the state and federal level) want."

Belle Glade City Attorney John E. Baker said one other way to pressure lawmakers into having state road 80 im-

Belle Glade is to build one between here and Miami," said Baker. He said a good, four-laned road between the Glades and Miami would give many local residents an incentive to drive to Miami to do their shopping instead of to Palm Beach via a treacherous state road 80.

Koehler also addressed concerns he had heard from some individuals that the existence of the authority will give the state a chance to back out of its previous commitments to four-lane state road 80 from the Glades office building to proposed would be to obtain the support of the coast. The only way to do that would be economically, according to Baker. "I have always commented that the best to get a good road between Palm Beach and U.S. 98.

"I think the first priority would be to press the state on four-laning the whole road," said Koehler.

Koehler also said he encouraged people to inform the authority of their feelings on the issues the members will be discussing.

"I think in areas as big as this, you got to fully involve people."

The next meeting of the authority will Monday, January 23.
